

New Castle Skirt

This long-line, flowing A-line skirt is reminiscent of the flattering styles of the 40's. The knee-length version is a fun summer skirt or a great business skirt, while the boot-length version is flattering to all figure shapes with it's long lines. Mix and match the layers for dozens of different looks - you can even add lace for a soft touch at the hemline. The knee-length version works well in cottons or crisp fabrics, but the boot-length version does need a fabric with more drape such as rayon, tencels, wools, etc.

 IMPORTANT *****

All of the lines for the various versions are on the same paper pattern - you will need tracing paper to trace off your desired pattern.
A sheer inexpensive (stitch-in) interfacing works very well, too.
